LOVE SCENES BETWEEN SIERRA MADRE ACTOR AND BROADWAY ACTRESS NOT MAKE BELIEVE

Cpl. Selwyn Myers and Florence McMichael Wed He's Sent Overseas

They are both actors, but everything that happened during love scenes a couple years ago between a Sierra Madre boy and a New York girl in the Broadway stage production of "Out of the Frying Pan" was not make believe. They were married on Long Island, New York, February 6.

The boy was Selwyn Myers, son of Al S. Myers, former Sierra Madre city business manager, and Mrs. Myers. The girl was Florence McMichael, currently appearing in another Broadway play.

When "Out of the Frying Pan" completed its New York run she came to Hollywood to make a Paramount picture of the play under the title "Young and Willing". That was in 1942. The romance that began in the stage play continued while she was on the coast. The boy and girl saw more of each other in New York last summer when Myers was called out of Army training to appear in an Army play that took New York by storm.

Myers, who had played in Pasadena Community Playhouse productions, the Ramona pageant and several Broadway shows, returned to Army training last fall and graduated as a radio operator and technician at Sioux Falls, South Dakota, in November. He was transferred then to the aviation gunnery school at Yuma, Ariz., where he graduated February 1. Then he was given a furlough, obviously preparatory to being sent overseas.

The wedding took place at the home of a friend of the bride's on Long Island on February 6. They left for a brief honeymoon in Connecticut the same day. Myers having orders to report to the Columbia Replacement Depot at Columbia, South Carolina, on February 18.

SIERRA MADREANS STEP OUT OF LONG AGO VALENTINES AT THE WOMAN'S CLUB

Members of the Sierra Madre Woman's Club celebrated St. Valentine's Day with a chicken pie dinner party on Saturday night at which the husbands were the honored guests. Tables set in the auditorium were decorated in the Valentine motifs. Place cards, old fashioned corsages and boutonnieres marked places for 100 guests. Dinner was followed by community singing, led by Mrs. Percy Kortcamp and accompanied by Mrs. Lelia Embree at the piano.

A gay 90's review of life sized valentines in tableau was presented by members and their husbands. President Dorothy Halperin acted as mistress of ceremonies and, as each Valentine was presented, she dedicated it to couples in the audience who had been married the greatest number of years. The program was as follows:

"Crinoline" tableau, Rosalie Goodwin, dedicated to Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Burbank, of 42 E. Carter ave., who have just celebrated their 50th anniversary.

"A Bicycle Built for Two", Mr. and Mrs. Jack Butler, dedicated to Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Kenroth, 56 Suffolk ave., wed 47 years.

"There is a Tavern in the Town", parody sung by Ruth Miles, dedicated to Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Straus, 270 E. Alegria ave., married 37 years.

"Only a Bird in a Gilded Cage", duet with guitar accompaniment, sung by Dr. J. S. Miller and Mrs. Percy Kortcamp; tableau, Mrs. John Emory; dedicated to Mr. and Mrs. Woodson F. Jones, of 124 E. Alegria ave., married 33 years.

Mrs. Edward R. Halperin represented "Let Me Call You Sweetheart".

Fete Will Continue As Usual

New Owner of Wistaria Vine Gardens Decides Not To Subdivide Parking Lot

Sierra Madre will have its annual Wistaria Fete as usual this year. And Richard K. Thayer, new owner of Wistaria Vine Gardens, will do nothing that would preclude the possibility of continuing the long series of festivals that have brought hundreds of thousands of visitors here and given the city publicity that has caused it to be one of the best known communities in California.

If Mr. Thayer ever had any idea of subdividing the considerable area in Floral Canyon that has been used as a parking lot during the fete, he has no such thought now. Building on this plot down below the great old Chinese wistaria vine would make it impossible to hold future fetes that the public might enjoy because there is no other available parking space near the gardens.

Several organizations have sought the privilege of conducting the 1944 Wistaria Fete, but no decision appears to have been reached as to which will be favored, though tiny buds are beginning to show on the miles of runners of the vine that cover

The Church of the Ascension will hold communion services at 8 A.M. and 10 A.M. on Ash Wednesday and in the evening at 7:30 P.M. there will be a choral litany, a sermon by the rector, Rev. John S. Neal. The choir will sing "In the Green Hills Far Away", by Gounod, among its numbers. The public is cordially invited.

Soldier and His Mother Overcome All Obstacles to Meet Before His Departure for Service Overseas

Where there is a will there's a way—especially when two people work hard enough to attain an end.

Mrs. Claire Moon, Sierra Madre's first woman postman who delivers mail in Sierra Madre Canyon and the northeast area, was "moving heaven and earth" since Sunday night to get plane transportation to Kansas City.

Private Lee Van Camp, her son, taking officers training in the Signal Corps at Camp Crowder, Missouri, whom she has not seen for a year and half, phoned his mother Sunday night to say he had not been able to get transportation to come home before going overseas.

City's Most Active War Worker to be Heard On the Air

Mrs. Elizabeth Turner, recently declared by a Woman's Club poll to be Sierra Madre's most active individual worker toward the war effort, will be given recognition on a radio program which may be heard Saturday night at 9:30 P.M. Mrs. Turner may be introduced.

Extension of City's Park Is Opposed

Residents of Affected Area Fear Noises from Proposed Playground

Sierra Madreans are showing a lively interest in the city planning commission's recommendation to the city council that the city park be extended west as far as the Woman's clubhouse to provide space for a swimming pool and other recreation facilities, but they are by no means of one mind on the desirability of putting the plan into effect.

City Clerk Waverly E. Pratt reports that many inquiries about the plan have been received at the city hall and that notice has been given that many protests will be filed if the council shows a disposition to acquire additional property for the park.

Opposition, however, seems confined entirely to the owners of property facing the proposed park extension, both on Sierra Madre boulevard and on Mariposa avenue. And curiously enough, Mariposa avenue residents are more vehement in their opposition than those on the city's main stem.

It was not to be expected that

Another Pair of Yew Trees Adorns School Grounds

The third pair of beautiful Irish Yew Trees has just been planted in the grounds of the Sierra Madre grammar school, the gift of Miss Thomasella Graham, owner of the "Italia Mia" estate. This pair of trees gave the front entrance of the school, the others are located near the Highland ave. entrance to the auditorium, and there is one on either side of the steps of the Auburn ave. entrance to the auditorium.

Still another pair of these beautiful specimens was donated by Miss Graham to the City Park more than 10 years ago. Noted landscape artists placed them on either side of the north end of the lily pond. Miss Graham's estate is famed for its landscaping. Its unusual trees, plants and flowers won first prize in the 1935 National Yard and Garden contest. A feature of the landscaping are two rows of more than 100 Irish yew trees, the largest number at any one place in the world, which line the terraced walk from the villa's south entrance to the fountain shaded by a large pepper tree.

Smart Army Nurse Excites Envy Of Many Women Here

Looking trim and smart as could be in her snappy blue uniform, Lieut. Christine Snell, Army nurse on furlough from her station at Fort Ord, was envied by many Sierra Madre women this week and admired by about all the men fortunate enough to see her. In the service almost two years and still enthusiastic about it, Lieut. Snell is here to visit her sister, Mrs. Margaret S. Keys, of 419 E. Highland ave., and says she is enjoying her stay in Sierra Madre no end.

Sierra Madre Beats 4th Loan Quota

Far Oversubscribes Allotments to Both Individuals And Corporations

Sierra Madre went sailing over the top in the Fourth War Loan campaign which ended Tuesday, oversubscribing its quota of $125,000 by more than $30,000. Just how much beyond that amount was loaned the government will not be known for several days until outstanding pledges have been redeemed and defense industries employing Sierra Madreans have made a return of bond purchases made at the plants. Members of the local committee believe when all returns are in the city will be credited with purchases of about $165,000.

President R. C. Lewis of the Sierra Madre Savings Bank said yesterday that it was gratifying to know that both the quotas for sales to individuals and to corporations had been more than met here. Of the total subscriptions accounted for yesterday, $139,000 had been made through the bank and approximately $10,000 through the local postoffice.

The sales to corporations were swelled by the Pasadena School district, directors of which credited a purchase of $12,500 to Sierra Madre, this being half of the corporation quota.

LIEUT. GOV. FRED HOUSER

Sierra Madre, and Justus Craemer, Orange county newspaper publisher, citrus grower and chairman of the California Railroad Commission, this week announced their candidacies for the Republican nomination for U. S. Senator to succeed Sheridan Downey.

In the brief statement announcing his candidacy Houser said: "After the war it will take United States Senators and Congressmen with real backbone and courage to restore and maintain our constitutional form of government. The powers which have been gradually absorbed and usurped by the President and by a centralized bureaucracy, must be retrieved by a determined, fearless Congress, if the torch of liberty and freedom is

Four-day Vacation For Grammar School Pupils; Sell Stamps

The Sierra Madre grammar school will be closed Monday and Tuesday, Washington's birthday, giving the children a 4-day holiday. School officials hope that some of this time will be devoted to selling war stamps to swell the fund of their "Put your school's name on an Army plant" campaign.

Boys and girls, their parents and friends are urged to contribute all possible buying of war stamps and bonds from now until June 9th to this worthy project—a PT-19B Fairchild "Correll" training plane, which costs $15,000. Up to Wednesday noon there was $1600 in the fund.

Heasley Re-elected Chief of Firemen

Sierra Madre's Volunteer firemen unanimously re-elected James C. Heasley their chief at the annual meeting Friday night. And by the same unanimous vote "Joe" Swanson was chosen for another term as secretary and Charley Brown was made treasurer.

City to Give Blood for Fighting Men

Red Cross Mobile Bank Is Coming Here Monday Morning for 325 Pints

In an effort to maintain the 100 percent record established by the local Blood Bank since Pearl Harbor an emergency call is going out from the Red Cross asking for full cooperation from every able-bodied citizen in meeting the quota of 325 pints of blood set by the Blood Bank mobile unit on its eighth visit to Sierra Madre Monday, February 21.

As usual the mobile unit will function between the hours of 8:40 and 12:40 at the Woman's clubhouse on W. Sierra Madre blvd. Need For Big Red Cross Fund Told

Tremendous Responsibility Heaped on Organization by War Explained to Leaders

Representatives of almost every organization in Sierra Madre met Tuesday at the local Red Cross headquarters to be informed fully about the Red Cross War Fund Drive being held nationally from March 1st to 31st.

Each person present will take back to his organization reasons for a 200 million dollar goal for 1944, as explained by Dr. Arthur O. Pritchard, chairman of the War Fund drive in Sierra Madre.

Reasons outlined were the increase of men in the Army and Navy for one. Today there are approximately ten million Americans wearing Navy blue or khaki. In 1944, who knows, how many more will be in uniform?

Last year two and one half million servicemen or their families were helped by the various Chapters. In 1944, ? ? ?

Besides the Red Cross obligation to men in service, there is one to servicemen now being dis-

Another Sierra Madre flyer died in action overseas. The War Department has notified Harry Lange of the death of his brother, Lieut. Edward M. Lange, over Europe on January 29. The communication was very brief, merely announcing that the flyer had "met death in defense of his country" while flying over Europe and that details would follow.

He had been stationed with American flying squadrons in England serving as a bombardier of a lead plane in a squadron of Flying Fortresses. He is known to have flown over the French invasion coast and over western Germany on several bombing missions and it is assumed that it was during one of these that he lost his life.

A resident of Sierra Madre since his early childhood, Lieut. Lange resided here with his brother Harry and family until he enlisted in the Army in 1941. He graduated a year ago this month from the Army Air Training Station at Midland, Texas, and later took special training as a navigator. He went overseas last August and has been stationed in England since then. He recently returned to duty after a brief vacation spent in Scotland.

Lieutenant Lange was born 23 years ago in Mitchell, S. D., and had lived in Sierra Madre since he was 10 years old. He attended Wilson Junior High and Pasadena Junior College. He enlisted in the Coast Artillery in March, 1941, and served at Camp Callen until transferred to the Army Air Forces in 1942.

Besides his brother, Harry, he is survived by his mother, Mrs. Mayme Lange of Arnolds Park, Ia., and a brother, Arthur Lange of Minneapolis.

Death Comes To Mrs. Cora B. Corum

Mrs. Cora B. Corum, owner of practically the last regularly operated pack train in the mountains of California, died here Saturday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Alice Dempsey, 188 Auburn ave. She was 76 years old and was ill but a short time, her death coming as a shock to a very wide circle of friends.

Mrs. Corum, a member of the Democratic county committee, came here with her husband, the late "Bill" Corum 32 years ago. They bought the mules, burros, horses and stables and supply store at the end of Sturtevant trail in Big Santa Anita canyon and operated the pack trains into the back country, carrying building and all other supplies and mail to the many camps and hundreds of cabins along the trail past Roberts Camp, Fern Lodge and Sturtevant camp.

Mr. Corum died in 1931 and Mrs. Corum carried on the business at the store in the center of animals and operation of the pack trains, conducting them personally over the steep, narrow trail in fair weather and foul. Construction of the Santa Anita highway as far as Chantry Flats made operation of the pack trains no longer profitable. So the stock was sold. Eventually Mrs. Corum sold the stores, stables and her home. The business was gone. She came to live down in the city with her daughter.

Besides her daughter, Mrs. Corum is survived by two grand children, Audrey and Denny Dempsey. She was a member of the Congregational Church, and the Sierra Madre Woman's Club. She was born in Grand Rapids, Mich. Funeral services were held at Grant Chapel Monday afternoon.

Varied Assortment Of Weather Hits Valley Cities

Lowest temperatures of the winter followed through after a few hours of wind that swept through the San Gabriel Valley Saturday and that could hardly be described as a series of zephyrs. The blow did some minor damage in spots in the valley. None was reported in Sierra Madre.

Light showers late Monday night and in the early hours of Tuesday morning left 26 inches of rain, bringing the season's total to 10.94 inches, less than half of that recorded at the same time a year ago, the total being 23.70 inches.

Legion Auxiliary Celebrates Its 19th Birthday

The American Legion Auxiliary Unit No. 297's 19th birthday party will be long remembered by those who attended the celebration last Thursday night at the mountain home of Major and Mrs. P. B. Linville. Past-presidents reminisced of early events of interest while seated at the beautifully arranged dinner table which featured a huge white birthday cake with 19 lighted candles. As President Catherine Miller blew out the candles, each member expressed a fervent wish that our boys in the armed forces may return to their homes safely and at an early date.

Rose Galkin won the door prize. The early part of the evening was spent in a business session. Our schools have been invited to again participate in the Poppy Poster Contest for Poppy Day in May.

Chairman Whitely reported that our Unit night at the USO has been changed from Monday to the 2nd Friday of each month. Members were solicited for cookies.

A greeting from Capt. Harry E. Gabriel who is hospitalized at the Veterans Hospital at Sawtelle, was read by the Secretary. Our host, Major Linville, gave a report on the activities of the Legion Post. Our next meeting will be held on Feb. 24th at the home of Mrs. Walter Nollac, 507 E. Grand View ave. Mrs. Vinton Hoegee will act as co-hostess. — Maybelle C. Barker, Press-Chairman.

Mrs. Mae de Wright returned to her home at 540 W. Alegria last Thursday, after a five months' visit with her husband, Lieut. R. E. ("Bob") Wright, on a Navy assignment at Janesville, Wis. "Wisconsin had the driest, warmest weather in its weather-recorded history while I was there," commented Mrs. de Wright, but the day after I left, it began to snow steadily." Mrs. de Wright came back at this time to help make a success of the visit next Monday of the Red Cross Mobile Blood Bank which it is expected will receive a pint of blood from each of 325 Sierra Madreans.

Ride Sharing Motorists Come First

Extend Power of Ration Boards to Issue Special Gasoline Rations

Extension of the local War Price and Ration Board's powers to issue special gasoline rations was announced this week. As a result, local boards have been empowered since Tuesday to issue special rations to workers for occupational driving without having to first present the cases to the district offices in Los Angeles.

"The new procedure will result in a definite time saving for all concerned, and is in line with the national policy of decentralizing as many activities as possible," an OPA announcement says. "Hitherto, the motorist who found his allotment insufficient to transport him to and from work has been required to file an application on a special form (7707-a), which came to the district office for clearance after being processed by the local board."

"The new ruling permits the board to which the application is presented to issue additional ration mileage, if it approves the case. However, no special rations will be issued to cover any driving other than 'from home and a fixed place or places or work, or between fixed places of work in connection with the applicant's principal occupation'."

Craeger, a former secretary to a California governor, State Building and Loan Commissioner and deputy director of the State Department of Public Works, merely announced that he had decided to become a candidate and said his statement would come later.

And Jack B. Tenney, Los Angeles county State Senator, is determined to go through with his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for Senator. Tenney has written his Sierra Madre friend, Tom Durning of 119 E. Highland avenue, advising him that he has decided to become a candidate.

Being a project for all the children of Sierra Madre, the juniors feel that there are probably individuals and organizations who desire to help by way of contributions and by giving their time in the library. All money contributions can be turned into the Sierra Madre Toyloan Library Fund account. Helpers at the library can contact the junior president, Althea Butler, at 6705—Gleam Drury, publicity chairman.

Talk On the Power of Thought Impressed Local Club Women

Members of the Sierra Madre Woman's Club and local clergywomen who were guests at a club meeting last week are still talking about a talk on the power of thought delivered at the meeting by Dr. Robert H. Bitter, member of the Hollywood Institute of Religious Science. They were deeply impressed.

"Thought," pointed out Dr. Bitter, "is the strongest force in the world. Since the mind attracts a surrounding atmosphere like unto itself, it is obviously more profitable in every way to fill the mind with thoughts of confidence and faith. Then if we recognize and believe that this is in harmony with the Supreme Mind whose only purpose is good for all mankind, our personalities become wholesomely and happily intergrated."

City to Give Blood

Kern, Anna Schultz, and Mi-lam Hilner. Mr. Lord has volunteered to clean up the Clubhouse following the mobile unit visit.

According to Red Cross officials who have worked in the field and seen the life saving miracles performed by plasma, there seems to be little understanding on part of many American citizens of their obligation to donate blood. "If only these people who remain safely at home fearing the slight discomfort of blood donations could see the tragedy, weariness and maiming of their sons and brothers who are maintaining for them the peace which enables them to remain unmolested and sleep soundly," says one official, "they would be unable to meet the eye of any returning soldier, sailor or marine."

Lecturer Stresses Need for Earnest Prayerful Thought Now By All Citizens

"The Gospel of the Comforting Christ" was the subject of a lecture on Christian Science delivered by Harry C. Browne, C. S., of New York City, at the Congregational Church Sunday evening.

Mr. Browne explained in detail that the gospel or good news must be true news, because God is good and God is Truth. The scientific fact of God's aliveness, His presence, power, intelligence and activity, necessarily renders all evil or bad news false, untrue, possessing neither power nor actuality, presence nor intelligence, Mr. Browne said.

Starting with the good news of the Bible account of God's spiritual creation of the universe and man the speaker recounted many instances of God's revelation of Himself to the ancient prophets and apostles, culminating in the gospel or good news of the coming of Jesus of Nazareth and his short but highly successful ful experience in the flesh.

Mr. Browne spoke feelingly of the great need for earnest, prayerful thinking on the part of all citizens for the guidance and protection of our chief executive and the men and women of the armed forces. Prayers are also needed that our legislators may see the need to plan and formulate now the articles of peace which must follow the ending of the war. It was pointed out that victory had been snatched away in the past through lack of proper preparation for peace.

Tax Exemptions For Servicemen

Arrangements are now in force to receive applications at the County Assessor's office for exemption from taxes, available to every person who served the nation in time of war. Where the service man is absent, this application may be signed by some member of his family. Widows and widowed mothers of war veterans are also exempted, and application is to be made each year before the last Monday in June.

War Production May Be Slowed Down By Kite Flyers

A combination of kite lines and power lines can cause tingles that slow down vital war work, according to the Southern California Edison Co. which issued a list of safety rules for kite-flyers yesterday.

"Edison lines furnish the electricity that powers many war plants," said W. L. Phillips, Edison district manager. "Kites flown near these power lines can easily come in contact with them and cause interruptions in essential electrical service."

"In the interests of the war effort and for the obvious reason of personal safety for boys and girls, four rules should be followed during the spring kite season: 1. Fly a kite in an open field, away from power lines. 2. Use a cotton cord. Never use wire, tinsel or metallic cord. 3. Be sure the cord is perfectly dry. 4. If your kite catches in a power line, let go! Do not pull it. Telephone the company owning the line and a lineman will come to get the kite down safely and with the least possible injury to it."

Ask Help of Courts on Traffic Safety

The dual responsibility for traffic-law enforcement—a responsibility divided between the police officers and the courts—was dramatically emphasized in a recent proclamation issued by Mayor Fletcher Bowron of Los Angeles. In his proclamation launching a pedestrian protection program Bowron said:

"Since any effort of this nature to be effective must depend upon strict law enforcement and the work of peace officers is largely nullified unless followed by fines and sentences of law violators in proper cases, the success of the program will, in final analysis, depend upon the courts. I feel certain that the big majority of the people will stand solidly behind those judges who show courage in the imposition of judgments regardless of influence and pressure on behalf of those who have endangered life and limb by willful violation of the motor vehicle laws."

The Pedestrian Protective Program is being carried on throughout Los Angeles by the county's 45 police chiefs in cooperation with the Greater Los Angeles Safety Council. The program, a continuing effort, is aimed at curbing unsafe practices by pedestrians as well as prosecuting those motorists who violate pedestrian rights.

Girl Scouts Will Have Hobby Show And A Parade

The Sierra Madre Girl Scout leaders met in the school cafeteria Feb. 10th. February is the month of International Friendship in Girl Scouting. In 1927, a few months after the death of Mrs. Low, the Juliette Low Memorial fund was begun in memory of Juliette Low's intense interest in the girls of all nations. It was her keen desire that everything possible should be done to help girls of every nationality to know and to value one another. Plans were made Thursday to honor Mrs. Low. A hobby show will be the main event. It will be held in the City Park Sunday afternoon, Feb. 27th, from 2:30 'till 4:30 p.m. A Girl Scout parade will file past a replica of the Girl Scout chalet in Switzerland and drop in their pennies. The money this year will be used for underprivileged children in other lands. Mrs. Ross Marshall, local chairman, will have charge of the parade. The leaders have procured their cupboard to be installed at the Congregational Church where all six Girl Scout troops will meet in the future.

Mrs. Frank Spencer, local community service chairman, reports the following articles made—Mrs. Walter Nollac's troop No. 6 made Valentine trap favors for the Huntington Memorial Hospital; Mrs. J. J. O'Connors troop No. 5 made 100 bedside bags for the Woman's Hospital; Pasadena; Mrs. Tyrone's troop No. 4 made tray favors for the Children's Hospital, Los Angeles; Mrs. Eaton's troop No. 3 is busy preparing its part in the P.T.A. founders' day program. Troop 2 with Mrs. Steve O'Donnell and Mrs. Haskins, leaders, welcomed back an old member to their troop last week. Anne Tremaine.

Three new girls were welcomed into the troop. They are Patricia Wall, Celeste Gourdeau and Angeline Marcicsev. They all went on a nature hike and when they returned Mrs. Ross Marshall surprised them with a party and refreshments. — Mrs. Herbert Dowling, Publicity Chairman.

Cost of Education Hits High Spot In California

The school districts of Los Angeles County levied $43,537,783 in property taxes for 1943-44 and received $29,282,199 in state apportionments from the state treasury, as well as other items of revenue from Federal and state government sources, says the California Taxpayers' association in its preliminary survey of county-wide school district revenues. Taxes levied for the school districts include debt service demands as well as current school expenditures.

Over the State as a whole, school district tax levies total $194,262,937 for this fiscal year and state apportionments to the elementary, high school, and junior college districts total $78,914,721. In addition, school districts receive state and federal aid for various purposes, including vocational education and war training classes, as well as from federal forest reserve funds.

Stay away from power lines!

You fellows and girls who like to fly kites can have lots more fun if you fly them where they cannot come in contact with electric power lines. You will be safer, you won't get your kites tangled in the wires, and you won't endanger lines that provide this war area with vital electricity. Here are four simple safety rules to follow:

1. Fly kites in an open field, away from power lines and other overhead obstructions.
2. Never use wire, tinsel or metallic string.
3. Be sure the string is perfectly dry.
4. If the kite catches in a power line, let go immediately. Don't pull! Phone the company owning the line, and a lineman will come to get your kite for you.

A Black Record

With the young year just well settled into the swaddling clothes of its first quarter, it is not yet too late to resolve anew that this is going to be a real safety year on the home front. It is not yet too late to review the gloomy record and consider how to improve it.

It is not a matter for unconcern that accidents, mainly preventable, are killing and crippling more Americans at home than Jap and Nazi bullets on all our battle fronts combined. Since the first shot was fired in this war, 140,000 U. S. troops have been recorded killed, wounded, missing and captured. Civilians who died accidentally in the same period total 190,000. And the number of injured stands at nearly 19 million!

California has contributed sorrowfully to the black record. In 34,000 major crashes here last year, traffic accidents alone took 2,500 lives and injured 45,000!

In this critical war year, all resources of the entire Nation should be devoted to the fight and directed toward victory. The health, strength and vitality of individuals are needed no less than the facilities of hospitals, medical staffs and medical supply which preventable accidents usurp. The common sense and caution that avoids accidents at home this year are the identical attributes expected of our sons at the front. It's our job, too, to measure up.

Raising Our Sights

Some whose calculations point to a more or less lengthy depression period following on the heels of the war will find practical solace in observations heard at the recent conference of Pacific Advertising Association.

"Advertising will cause us to want better homes after the war, better clothes, food, autos, transportation and streets," Colonel Alexander R. Heron told the audience. "That's what is constructive; it raises our sights."

The problems due in the months following the war will tax the capacity and ingenuity of every community. Plans in the making now for the necessary rebuilding of business the nation over, for the conversion of industry, for the rehabilitation of the wounded and the reemployment of war workers and service men will prop and bolster the entire national economy in those months to come.

Planners of California's post war projects will carry one of the greatest loads for here the tremendous new population of workers and their families will be augmented further by thousands of out of State service men looking for jobs. The obligation to be laid on California's shoulders will be an enormous one.

Advertising which "raises our sights" and builds popular demands will play a major role in the reconstruction program that steers the nation back to solid ground when the final battles are won and the men come home.

Battle for the Air

We have heard a great deal about the coming "battle for the air" which will be fought when peace comes. This refers, of course, to the struggle between the major nations to gain a share of the world air traffic which is expected to reach great proportions after victory.

Major A. L. Bulwinkle, congressman from North Carolina, has recently called attention to the battle for the air—and for practically every other form of transportation—that is already underway right here in America.

He pointed out that there is a movement afoot to stifle the newer types of transportation—highway and air carriers—through the formation of vast monopolistic combines which would own and operate all forms of transportation by land, water and air.

Legislation has been introduced in Congress which would create great regional corporations authorized to engage in all forms of transportation. Major Bulwinkle calls attention to the fact that because of the dominant position of the railroads due to their wealth and size, such legislation is merely a means of proposing that the railroads be allowed to compete with them. The railroads could then divide up the country and have undisturbed monopolies. Major Bulwinkle contends nothing is more vital to the future prosperity of America than that genuine competition be maintained in our transportation system.

Glamorous

The Population Commission, which recently predicted that California will become the biggest State in the Union, now tells us, in effect, that we're the No. 1 Glamour Girl of all the States.

"All signs indicate that California remains the land of romance and prosperity in the minds of millions who would like to live here," reports the commission. "As long as that desire persists, California will grow."

That makes it official, but can't you just hear Florida crying: "What's she got that I haven't got?" The answer is "We got glamour!"

Here and There

by Dean A. G. H. Bode

IN the third part of his philosophic poem, the Testament of Beauty, Bridges treats of love, which is to the race what selfhood is to the individual. He carries his treatment through the history of chivalry with its respectful worship of womanhood, to the highest ideals of Christian marriage. This love, the younger of the two arch-instances of human nature which are symbolized by the two horses in Plato's chariot, is like some lovely architecture in having its foundations buried out of sight or consciousness. The older arch-instant of selfhood grew in some from animal rage to vice of aggressive wars, and in some to necessary luxury of living, while in others it grew to ideal nobility of character. So also love, from its buried animal foundations was gradually "distilled in the beauty and altruism of spiritual love to be the sublimest passion of humanity."

Describing selfhood straying to luxury Bridges says:

When in a great city a guild of merchant's dine
One dinner's cost would ease a whole be-est o' want,
Its broken meats outface Christ's thrifty miracle.

He says that sometimes delicate guests may sit and play with their food inattentively as an accidental relish to intellectual banter and familiar discourse, but he scorns the epicurean aesthetic of food, a scheme of morsels graduated to provoke and stimulate alike digestion and appetite, "and each viand married with a congenial wine, and each wine in itself a sublimation of fancy and of such priceless rarity that no man can come but by luck and genius to possess such bottles."

THIS description of luxurious living will be far removed from the experience of all of us, and it refers to former conditions and to a practically vanished class of people, probably the merest fraction of one per cent. But Bridges' argument is that pleasure in food, common to all animals, can feel pleasure, giving energy and comfort of sustenance can be posited by folly as an end in itself, till by sensuous refinement it usurps rank beside man's intellectual and spiritual joys and the thing comes of Self, the older arch-instant. Bridges' illustration of the other instant—Love—awakening "spiritual emotion," and rising to be the sublimest passion in humanity, naturally makes use of the marvellous example of the great Italian poet, Dante. Here are his lines:

"In higher natures, poetic or mystical
Sense is transfigured; as, once with Dante it was,
Who saw the grace of a fair Florentine damsel
As wisdom incarnate.
The starry plenitude of his radiant soul
Encountered an aspect of pure spiritual beauty
At the still hour of dawn which is holier than day
'Twas of that silent meeting his high vision came Rapturous as any vision ever to poet given
Since in that sacrament he re-baptized his soul
And lived thereafter in love, by the merit of faith
Toiling to endow the world, and on those fether'd wings
His mighty poem mounted panting, and lieth now
With all its earthly tangle by the throne of God.

Among mankind Bridges notes that beauty became a feminine attribute, while among birds it was a masculine. Perhaps it was once so with men before they left hunting to do the toiling. Then beauty was for women and toil for men. Now Bridges has some striking passages in a digression on the changes made in men's toil by the invention of modern machinery.

"Once the plow teams followed and receded
Patiently the desolate landscape from dawn to dusk,
As the slow creeping ripple of their sinewy furrow
Submerged the sodden litter of summer's festival
They are fled, those gracious teams; high on the head-land now
Squatted, a roaring engine to itself
A beam of bolted shafts, and agriculture here
Blotting out with such daub so rich a picture of grace
Hath lost as much of beauty as it hath saved in toil.
Again where reapers, bending to the ripened corn,
Were wont to scythe in rank and step with measured stroke
A shark-toothed chariot rampeth biting a broad way,
And jerking its high swiveling arms in the air,
Swoopeth the swath.
It clinketh in heartless mockery of swoon and sweat,
As 'twere the samadri voice of all perched things,
And the dry grasshopper wondering knoweth its god."

YET not all beauty is lost, and Bridges paints a wonderful picture of beauty and comfort in modern farm life, for
"What man feel'th not a new poetry of toil
Whenas on frosty evenings neath its clouding smoke
The engine hath huddled up its clumsy thrashing coach
Against the ricks, wherefrom late o'ers standing aloft
Toss the sheaves on its tongue, while the gain runneth out,
And in the whirl of its multitudinous hurry
It hummeth like the bee, a warm industrious bee
That cometh forth the farm, and spreadeth far afield
With throbbing power, as when in a Cathedral awe
The great diapason speaketh, and the painted saints
Feel their glass canopies flutter in the heavenward prayer."

This has been somewhat of a digression. The thread of connection was beauty for women, toil for men, and the poem goes on to picture chivalry and the rise of poetry which celebrated the nobility of women, the faith of all poets from the troubadours to Shelley; echoed today in the reverence for womanhood to be found in our cowboys and others of nature's gentlemen.

GEORGE WASHINGTON.
FEBRUARY 22, 1732 - DECEMBER 17, 1799.

While Governor Dewey of New York is leading most of the G. O. P. presidential popularity polls at the moment, the lowdown is that Dewey, Wilkie and Bricker are running almost a dead-heat for votes in the Republican convention, with many indications pointing to a three-way deadlock. That's the kind of setup, incidentally, that's made to order for some dark horse, now languishing in the political stable.

The aluminum industry intends to brighten its own particular corner in the post-war world—with pots and pans for milady's kitchen in every color from baby blues to flaming reds!

In reviewing some of the statistics which 1943 produced, we cannot help being impressed with the deposit gains made by America's banks. Total deposits in the 14,550 banks throughout the country reached a figure of approximately $120 billion. This is a gain of nearly $40 billion in the past two years.

British women will have more color and feminine lines in their 1944 fashions, although stringent cost and coupon regulations will not be relaxed. Colors will include lacquer reds, Matisse blues, grass green, and a new golden bronze. A smart, well cut dress will cost about $12 and require 11 coupons—one-fourth of a year's supply.

During the first 11 months of 1943 we shipped 5,250,000 tons of food to our Allies under lend-lease. This represented 9.3 per cent of our domestic supply of meat; 11.9 per cent of eggs; 7.3 per cent of dried fruit; 1.3 per cent of canned vegetables; and various percentages of other items. Roughly one-fourth of our food production is now going either into lend-lease or to our armed forces. The very fact that we are able to meet these huge requirements and yet have an ample supply of essential foods for civilian needs is due not only to our agricultural production capacity but to the efficiency of our food distribution system. Officials of the War Food Administration indicate that 1944 lend-lease food shipments will be about 10 per cent larger than 1943.

With the tempo of war activity rising around the globe, American aircraft production is rising with it. In January our plane output was actually ahead of schedule. Emphasis is now being placed on four-engine bombers and longer-ranged, heavier fighters. Total production for the month was 8789 planes. This is 13 less than December, but the January showing was better because of the heavier air ships being built. The weight of aircrafts produced last month was 5.4 per cent greater than December. America's aircraft production has astounded the world. A few years ago we thought we were doing well to turn out several hundred planes each month. It seems, there is no such thing as a "ceiling" on American productive capacity.

As a war-time measure, the state? Many people expect its development and growth to be so marked after the war that it will be granted that status. Actually the war "made" Alaska. Prior to the Jap attack on Dutch Harbor and their invasion of Attu and Kiska, the American people were only vaguely aware of the land "up north." Then suddenly we became Alaska conscious—conscious of the great strategic value of our northern possession. Army engineers perceived a modern miracle in building the Alaska highway. Had there been no emergency it might have been years before it was constructed. Since then we have also become aware of the extensive business and commercial possibilities Alaska offers. And it is these possibilities that are expected to attract thousands of people to Alaska when the war is over. If the threat to Alaska had occurred during the last war, we would have been much less able to cope with it. Today there are many thousands of America's young men stationed in Alaska. After victory, they are expected to lead the "second gold rush" and to help build a bigger and better Alaska—and make it the 49th state.

Medical service examination records show that about one-third of all draftees in England and America are rejected for causes arising from malnutrition. This does not mean that these draftees have been underfed, but rather, improperly fed. In other words, they have not maintained a balanced diet. Time was when we thought the amount of food determined how well fed we were. But in the last several decades we have discovered that nutritional value in food is more important than mere quantity. In many European and Asiatic countries where the quantity and variety of food is definitely limited, malnutrition is to be expected. But in the United States there is no excuse for it, since we raise almost every conceivable kind of food and we have the necessary large-scale distribution machinery to move it to market. The biggest obstacle is lack of knowledge of what foods constitute a well-balanced diet. The science of nutrition has developed since the turn of the century. It is a comparatively new study. As the public becomes better educated in nutritional values, the raising of health standards will go steadily forward.

Ethel Barrymore Is Coming To Pasadena In "Corn Is Green"

Ethel Barrymore, playing the role that is said to fit her more perfectly than any of her fabulous career, is coming to Pasadena Tuesday, Feb. 22. As Miss Moffatt, middle aged school teacher who discovers one of her pupils to be a boy of great talent, Miss Barrymore will appear at Pasadena Civic Auditorium for one night in Emlyn Williams' play, "The Corn Is Green." She will be presented by Miss Carolyn Ware and Miss Mabel Hazelton, Pasadena impresarios who have contracted for management of Miss Barrymore's California tour on this, her second trans-continental trip in the Pulitzer prize winning play.

Considered an example of fine writing and the best in theater fare, Emlyn Williams' play is essentially a warm, human comedy about people in a Welsh mining town, many of them illiterate. Miss Moffatt's struggle to bring the light of learning to her classes, with innumerable discouragements and her interest in the young, gifted Morgan Evan played with Miss Barrymore's skill and charm, have been so welcomed by audiences all over the country that "The Corn Is Green" has played now almost continuously for over three years.

Employers Asked to Help Recruit Wacs

An appeal to the business men of this region to set aside selfish considerations and lend support to the Army Air Force's AFWAC Recruiting campaign, even at the cost of losing some of their most efficient employees not in direct war work, was voiced this week by a committee of leading Southern California industrialists.

"There is no doubt, they said in a statement, that more women are needed by the Army, and that it is our duty as patriotic business men, to encourage the enlistment of all women employees who are eligible and free to join. I am speaking, of course, of the mobile women who have no domestic responsibilities and are not employed in essential jobs.

"As employers, we know better than anyone else how efficient women can be in business and how useful they will be in the Army Air Forces. We shall be handicapped without them, as we are when we lose some of our best young men; but there are always enough of us left at home to get along."

Announce Exams for Scholarships At Whittier College

Whittier College announces this week that 24 scholarships, ranging from $125 to $400 are available to students of superior attainment entering Whittier College in the fall of 1944. High school seniors and junior college students are eligible to apply for these awards, and to take the competitive examinations set for Saturday, March 18th on the Whittier campus. Application forms should be secured at once by writing to, or calling at, the registrar's office.

Seek Recruits For Nursing Service In Army, Navy, Hospitals And Homes

UNCENSORED

By LEONE BAXTER

The CIO's Planning Committee recently laid down its considered alternative to the utter collapse of the American form of government—its blueprint of essentials which must be assured all Americans of every race, creed and color if our economic system is to survive. Those "essentials" were:

"A job at union wages for a 'arm, business or profession that pays; a well-built, convenient home, decently furnished; good food; clothing and medical care; good schooling for children with an equal chance for healthy, happy growth; an adequate income through social insurance in case of sickness, old age, unemployment or early death."

The CIO calls its plan the "gold standard of living," and indeed it is. But the CIO is grossly in error in claiming sole sponsorship of the project.

It is the selfsame program for which all the unselfish elements of mankind have been striving for thousands of years, the goal everyone wants for his children, though most thinking parents still want their sons to "assure" their good fortune by their own good efforts.

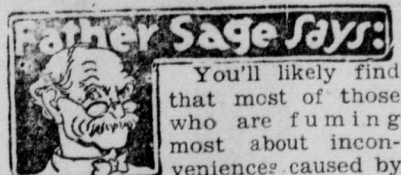

The shining goal never has been fully attained—this Golden Age now re-christened the "gold standard of living"—which is to protect all men against job failure, business failure, sickness, old age and even death, and which will shed its light on the enterprising, honest man and the arrogant, stupid, dishonest and lazy man alike. But we have moved nearer to it every generation for a long time now, despite all difficulties besetting the path. Despite economic adversity and world-shattering war, we are nearer the goal today than ever before. That the remaining hurdles cannot be cleared in a single bound nobody knows better than the CIO Planning Committee, which is not stupid.

Every man's desire for a little more than he already has is the essence of progress. And it is the natural tool as well, of union leaders who want to keep their jobs. But the phantasm of a quick leap into a new Golden Age, engineered somehow by the obscure legend of a proposed "new federal agency," is not worthy of the men who promulgate it nor of the dues-paying union men and women who apparently are expected to accept it with eyes wide, mouths open and hands outstretched for the golden loot.

Beyond that it is grossly unworthy of the times—a perilous period in the life of our nation, when the tawdry trick of confusing natural human desires with "essential rights" cannot be condoned as in more normal times. It occurs to us often these days that the only ones who are very realistic about the situation this nation finds itself in today are those who are fighting the war with guns and planes, ships and bayonets—the kids who come home from across the seas, take one look at the never-never land of struggle for personal advantage—and return sickly to the battlefields.

You'll likely find that most of those who are fuming most about inconveniences caused by the war and wailing about the absence of T-bone steaks and luxuries are doing least for the war effort and buying fewer War Bonds—if any—than the rest of us.

Money spent for War Bonds goes to the front. Sometimes it provides spectacular equipment like planes, oft times it buys a runty donkey like this American soldier is taking ashore in Italy. The quicker your dollars go into action, the sooner it will be over. Buy More War Bonds.

Railroaders with their THINKING CAPS on

Here we tell you about some good ideas thought up by the people of our railroad to help Southern Pacific carry its greatest traffic load in history. Such ideas contribute directly to Victory, because the railroad is the war industry all other war industries depend on!

Only a few of the ideas received in recent months are presented here. And some of the devices shown can be fully appreciated only by railroaders. But these ideas have a common denominator everybody will understand: All represent better ways to run a railroad!

Back in the 1860's our railroad itself was a new idea. The first Southern Pacific tracks were built largely into virgin, sparsely settled regions where great cities later grew.

And through the years the S.P. "family" has steadily pioneered such new ideas in railroading as low coach fares; moderately priced meal service in dining cars; and store-door pickup and delivery for less than carload freight. We operate more air-conditioned cars than any railroad west of the Mississippi. Even today, in wartime, our hard-pressed streamliners are still the nation's most beautiful trains.

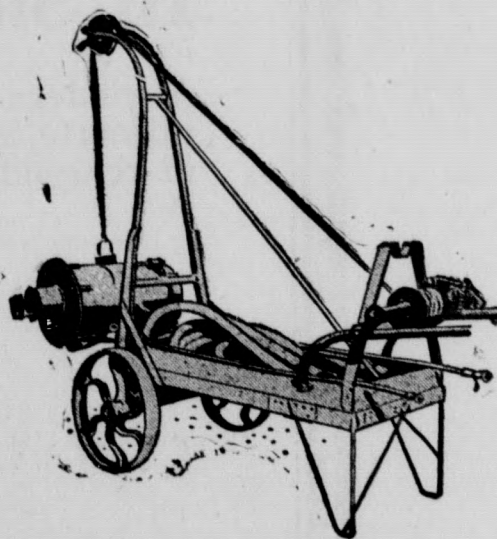

You can be sure that S.P. men and women in the shops, yards, offices, stores and on the trains will continue their constant search for improved methods of railroading.

In this spirit of enterprise we find stimulation and encouragement for the future. Then, as now, good railroad transportation will be needed . . . and we know that railroaders with their thinking caps on will do their part to provide it. S.P. is planning for peacetime progress NOW!

Buckley's Famous "CANADIOL" Mixture Acts Like a Fl sh Spend a few cents today at a Retail Cut Rate Drug or any drug store for a bottle of Buckley's CANADIOL Mixture (triple acting). Take a couple of sips at bedtime. Feel its instant powerful effective action spread thru throat, head and bronchial tubes. It starts at once to loosen up thick, choking phlegm, soothe raw membranes and make breathing easier. Sufferers from those persistent nasty, irritating coughs or bronchial irritations due to colds find Buckley's brings quick and effective relief. Don't wait—get Buckley's Canadiol today. You get relief instantly.

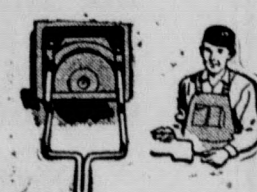

THESE FOUR MEN worked out a horizontal airjack which saves delay to flat cars and manpower in blocking of flat cars into rigid units for loading with long piling. S.P. District Car Service Agent J. E. Whalley (left) conceived the idea. Car Foreman W. H. McAllister (left) built first working model. W. E. Jackson drew blueprints for another at Eugene, where Master Car Repairer W. B. Medill (right) produced a second working model. Device improves on manually operated track jacks used for same purpose.

Watering of passenger cars has been simplified by specially-shaped extension pipe suggested by General Car Foreman C. H. D. Hansen of S.P.'s Mission Road Coach Yard. Method eliminates ladder and need to climb up on top of car to fill water tank.

Two hours time daily is saved by this device developed by S.P. Machinist Dow Nichols of Bakersfield. His idea involves a centering attachment for driving box boring mill. Machinists see this as a valuable contribution to good workmanship.

To extract journal bearings more easily and minimize danger of accidents, E. P. Morgan, S.P. Electric Welder of the Los Angeles Car Department, worked out this ingenious and specialized tool.

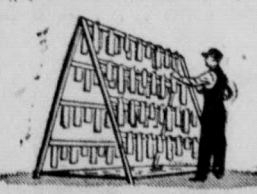

Ideas for improved production of brake shoes which saves 156,000 pounds yearly of critical metal formerly scrapped was suggested by Charles Walls, General Foreman of S.P. Blacksmiths at the Sacramento Shops.

Increased reclamation of war-vital zinc from used batteries, now S.P.'s only source of zinc, is made possible by idea of Wayne Ramsey, Reclamation and Welding Foreman at Sacramento General Stores. By Ramsey's method, adapting the hammermill, 400 pounds of zinc are produced daily against 100 pounds by former method. Hammermill rips open the zinc covering and breaks up carbon. Zinc pieces and crushed carbon are run through tumbler where carbon falls through perforations while zinc remains behind.

Greater accuracy, with saving of time and effort, is made possible by jigs developed by S.P. Machinist Earl Eckenberg at Los Angeles Shops. Jigs center alternator and pump motor heads for boring and fitting bushings.

Issuing train tickets to the public is speeded by this stockroom holder for ticket forms devised by Bob Steinbach, S.P. Ticket Clerk. Tickets hang from spindles, in logical order, permitting quick identification and handling.

To keep passengers posted as dining car seats become available, reducing wartime waiting-in-line, Conductor E. M. Benson suggested announcements over loudspeakers on S.P. Daylights. Our Conductors often contribute ideas.

Magazine Pictures Local Boy In Italy As He Bathes

Mrs. E. L. Jackson, of 55 North Auburn, was thrilled when she recognized the picture on page 21 in the January 31 issue of Life as that of her son, Ellet.

He is shown kneeling in front of a small fire, and washing his face with a handkerchief. The picture is full-page, and is easily recognizable. It bears this caption: "Yesterday's battlefield is quiet in the morning sun, as an American soldier washes his face with a handkerchief."

"In the shell torn Liri Valley of Italy, tents have been pitched beside shell holes and shattered trees."

"Other marks are dead horses in the fields, grey patches of powder burns on the hillsides, abandoned rifles and hand grenades, and thousands of fox-holes and rifle pits."

The Liri Valley is in Italy and has been a hotly contested battleground for several days.

Ellet is with the Army Engineers that fought through the North African campaign, and have been in the thick of it in Italy ever since the fighting started there.

Ellet's brother, Sgt. Donald Jackson is in the South Pacific with a Commando or Ranger Command and participated in the battle of Tarawa. His mother received a letter from him a few days ago in which he said that he was not feeling very well, but urging her not to worry. He did not say whether he had been wounded at Tarawa or was ill.

If You Really Like Strawberries You'd Better Grow Some

If the public is to have the usual supply of strawberries this season, much of the production must come from home gardens, asserts Harold E. Thomas, Assistant Professor of Plant Pathology, College of Agriculture, University of California, in his new leaflet "The Strawberry in the Home Garden," now available for distribution.

"Commercial production has decreased steadily since the removal of Japanese growers, but the home gardener may still enjoy this luscious first fruit of spring," Thomas said.

The strawberry can usually be grown successfully in most areas of California if given proper care and treatment. In the leaflet Thomas discusses the varieties to plant, time of planting, how to plant, kind of soil, drainage, irrigation, cultivation and care,

A Winter Season Shortcake

You needn't wait for the strawberry and peach season to treat the family to a delicious shortcake . . . not when cranberries are in season and apples are plentiful. Try spicy apples and cranberry shortcake.

To prepare the sauce boil together for 3 minutes $\frac{1}{2}$ cup sugar and $\frac{1}{2}$ cup water. Add 1 cup diced apple, cook about 5 minutes. Add 1 cup washed cranberries, and a stick of cinnamon. Cook until cranberries pop, about 5 minutes.

This is the recipe for the shortcake biscuits:
1/3 cup shortening
2 cups sifted flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt

fertilization, diseases, number of plants to set for family use and how to harvest them.

Copies of the leaflet may be obtained, without cost, from the Publications Office, Giannini Hall, University of California, Berkeley.

State Picnics

The Minnesota state society will hold its winter all-day picnic February 19, in Sycamore Grove.

The Montana winter picnic will be held all day February 20 in Sycamore Grove.

The spring picnic of the Nebraska Association will be held at Sycamore Grove Saturday, March 25.

2/3 cup milk
1 tablespoon shortening

Make a biscuit dough by cutting the 1/3 cup shortening into the sifted flour, baking powder and salt. Add milk, stirring quickly but thoroughly. Turn dough onto a floured board. Knead gently. Roll out about $\frac{1}{2}$ inch thick. Cut into eight 3-inch rounds. Brush tops of four rounds with melted shortening and place second round on top. Bake in a hot oven (450°F.) about 15 minutes.

Separate the rounds. Cover the bottom with apple cranberry sauce. Place top round on and cover it generously with the sauce. Top with hard sauce, if desired.

"Quiet Weekend" At The Playhouse

Throwing a comic beam on the Bill of Small Rights, Esther McCracken's comedy, "Quiet Weekend" comes to Pasadena Community Playhouse stage from Feb. 23 to March 5, to illuminate those minor deeds and misdeeds of all our lives. The right to squabble in an inter-familial sort of way, to fall in love, to catch a salmon out of season and hoodwink the constable, etc. cover a small section of this kid brother to the Big Bill.

"The Pursuit of Happiness" closes its current Playhouse run on Sunday, Feb. 20.

A PIONEER PASSES

To the Editor of
The Sierra Madre News:

There passed from our physical sight and hearing, last Saturday morning, one who held the highest esteem of all who knew her—Cora B. Corum.

A pioneer in every sense of the word, Cora Corum helped blaze trails for many to follow. With her high courage in the face of untoward events there was always a gentle sympathy and understanding. Sierra Madre is richer for having known Mrs. Corum, and while we shall miss her, we know that she well deserved the Master's call.

Alumni of Pomona College Here Opens Scholarship Drive

Local Pomona College alumni have launched their 1944 scholarship fund campaign, dedicated to tripling the financial assistance that can be given men and women now in military service when they return to classrooms after the war.

Last year 2,199 alumni contributed $20,947, making it possible for Pomona College to set $5,000 for postwar scholarships which will be available to service men and women whose education was interrupted by the call to arms. This year's goal for the service fund is $15,000.

Class representatives who are contacting other alumni in this district are the following Sierra Madrians:

Mrs. H. B. Tuttle, chairman; Miss Catherine Burraby Bode; Mrs. Elwood N. Chapman; F. Roland Leffingwell; Mrs. J. Stedden Miller; Mrs. Catherine Tuttle, and Mrs. W. W. Vannier.

FIRE FLAMES

By One of the Boys

Enough men retain interest in the fire department to make crews for three pieces of apparatus at the regular drills. This affords opportunity for the men to become acquainted with a variety of operations. Last week's drill brought out one of the O.C.D. pumps that proved to be in good working order. Because of the condition of the regular fire equipment, the O.C.D. supplies are of inestimable value. A ladder drill was practiced without the usual argument as to which side of the ladder was up. This was some sort of a relief. The very dangerous condition of one of the fire trucks was brought before the meeting by Harold Spears. The men who have driven this truck realize the seriousness of what might happen through the use of it. A committee was appointed to inquire into the possibility of replacing this dangerous piece of machinery.

With Sierra Madre Boys in Service

Dial and Jim Donnelly, spent last weekend at the Dempsey home, in Sierra Madre. Dempsey, now stationed at Fort Huachuca, is completing training for the Sea Bees. Miss Jane Cobert and Miss Anna Bergien helped entertain the boys while here.

Among the service men recently home on short leave was Pvt. Sho Nomura, born in Sierra Madre and youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Nomura, now at Rivers, Ariz. Relocation Center. He was given a warm welcome at Bethany Church before reporting for embarkation for "parts unknown". After 15 months of intensive training at Camp Savage, Minn., Private Nomura was assigned to duty with the Army Intelligence Service.

Photographs by Sgt. Joe Hinojosa of Sierra Madre, official photographer of Fort Ord, always lend plenty of interest to "Panorama", the camp newspaper, but no issue has been more lively than the current one thanks to Joe's pictures. The elite of Monterey and other coast towns near the post join in making taxi dances at the Soldier's Club at the post a success, the misses and matrons dancing with the GI's at a "dime a dance". Proceeds of the last dance went to the infantile paralysis fund and Mrs. Joseph Stilwell and her daughter Allison, wife and daughter of the famed "Uncle Joe" and "Vinegar Joe", Allied commander in the Far East, were guests of honor. Joe's picture of a GI and a Monterey beauty on the dance floor was just one of the excellent photographs reproduced.

Staff Sgt. Robert Rigney, son of Mrs. Minerva Rigney, of 153 Lowell ave., after several weeks' hospitalization resulting from a serious accident, returned last week to Aviation School at Greenville, Miss.

Pfc. Howard W. Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Al W. Miller of 119 W. Grandview ave., is "somewhere in the South Pacific", and reports "it is summer here; the food is good, and so are the shows and swimming."

Last letters of Tech. Sgt. Arthur O. Pritchard, Jr., "somewhere in Australia" to reach his father, Dr. A. O. Pritchard, tell of "special service" work in morale building in which he is engaged at a mobile hospital station. Among entertainment features prepared for the boys is a small discussion group which reviews current questions. The books, magazines and the Sierra Madre News, all are thoroughly read and appreciated by Sgt. Pritchard and his comrades. He has had only two furloughs in more than two years service. Leave time was spent studying life of the countryside and a visit to Sydney. Here he was interested in comparing the procedures of the "lower courts" and the legislative bodies with those he had heard in Washington, D. C.

Sgt. Donald T. Keys, son of Mrs. Margaret S. Keys, of 419 E. Highland ave., has just been transferred to Casper, Wyo.

Pvt. William E. Rhodes, son of Mrs. George Nelson, of 305 N. Mt. Trail ave., is due home on a visit this week.

Seaman 2/C David Carlton Steidinger, Hospital Corps, having just completed boot camp training is visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Keeler, of 125 E. Mira Monte ave. He returns on Monday to his base at Farragut, Idaho.

Park Extension Is Opposed

There would be no opposition to the proposal, said Dr. Webster Vannier of the planning commission, yesterday. "But I am informed that the opposition is purely local, coming from residents in the immediate neighborhood of the park. They are afraid installation of recreation facilities would be accompanied by more or less noise and that would be objectionable to them. But with a taxenile problem to be solved we've simply got to provide additional recreation for our youth and this is undoubtedly the time to do it."

The city council has discussed the matter informally and each member is giving the subject individual study. Councilman McGill has been delegated to sit in with the planning commission and get its angle on the situation.

Some members of the council think a swimming pool, baseball diamond and other recreation facilities could be provided at the city water plant, but others think this is too far from the center of the city to be attractive to the city's youth and therefore to meet the problem facing the community. Mr. McGill will attend a meeting of the planning commission next Monday evening and report to the council at its meeting on the following night, after which the council will pass upon the recommendations.

♦ Mrs. Steve Petzel, former many years resident in Sierra Madre canyon, and mother of Mrs. John Kennedy, of Canyon Crest drive, was in town Monday to attend funeral services of Mrs. Cora Corum. Mr. and Mrs. Petzel now reside in Altadena.

♦ Mrs. Hudson Shotwell and her 12-year old daughter, Anne Tremaine, returned to Sierra Madre last week to live at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Colin W. Timmons, at 49 W. Orange Grove ave., for the duration. While Mrs. Shotwell was with her husband last summer, Anne stayed with the Timmons, going East in the fall to be with her parents. Lieut. Shotwell is an anti-aircraft instructor at an Eastern Army base.

♦ Over 300 children enjoyed the refreshments, games and all-around fun at the Camp Fire Girls' Mercy Ship Carnival, held February 9th, at the grammar school.

♦ Mrs. C. L. Young attended the Pasadena Council of P. T. A. Founders Day program at the Pasadena Public Library on Monday.
